Chi Pi Goes Caroling For Food Donations

By Shelley Contento

A great BIG thanks to everyone who wandered through the frosty snow with us from door to door caroling on Wednesday night. What a wonderful experience! There were eleven able-voiced carolers who made it out that night to serenade the occupants of Risley Street. I think we were all pleasantly surprised by the extremely warm welcoming we received from the people we sang to. Not a door was slammed in our face, not even a bit! The first house we went to told us that they were just decorating their tree and wondering why no one ever caroled anymore. The children were utterly adorable and cuddled on their parents' laps as they swayed to the music. We received plenty of canned food donations to fill up my car and take to the Dunkirk Friendly Food Kitchen. People sang along with us, thanked us, and expressed an interest in giving more than they already had. One woman even told us to come back the following week and she would make us cookies! We had so much fun and many of the brothers echoed the sentiment that it was just what we needed during this stressful end of the semester. The weather may have been chilly, but our hearts were really warmed by the generous people of that area!

In October we sat at a table in the Williams Center for two days selling chocolate roses for Sweetest Day. We were able to make a little over $60 for the chapter. We still have some left over that we need to get rid of, so if there is anyone who wants some, let me know.

On October 30th, we hosted our first ever Hawaiian Luau bar party at Village Limits. While turn out wasn't great, we were able to make over $100 dollars for the National Convention. Our next party will be on Tuesday, December 10th and be a Mardi Gras/Beer Pong Party. Only $2 in advance and $3 at the door so spread the word! This is also a good opportunity to earn service points through decorating and selling raffle tickets.

On Wednesday, November 20th our huge cookie dough order was delivered to the old Kmart parking lot. After sitting around in our cars for hours it finally arrived. Unfortunately Jay and Kim were the only brothers still there, but were able to unpack and sort the cookie dough for us all! Yay them! From this fundraiser we made about $660 towards the National Convention.
